

Vectors are animals that can carry harmful diseases. The mosquito is an example of a vector. Although mosquitos may cause sickness in humans, they are an important part of nature's food chain. Many fish, frogs and salamanders rely on mosquito eggs and larvae as a main part of their diet.